

Off to Italy

Mrs. Lena Gustin of Bankstown left Australia last month to address an Italian migrant association.

Mrs. Gustin, known to thousands of radio listeners as Mamma Lena, lives in South Terrace, Bankstown.

Part of the work connected with her radio programmes is done from her home.

For her work, which is aimed at migrants, she will shortly receive an award from the Italian Government.

The award is one of Italy's top honours.

Mrs. Gustin will receive the Croce di Cavaliere from Italian Ambassador to Australia, Dr. M. Mayoli, in Canberra later this month.

Her work in assisting migrants won her the high honour.

She is shown boarding her plane at Mascot with director of the Italian office of Qantas at Mascot, Mr. G. Galvani of Bexley.
